

Who, or What, is Blood?

Blood is many things. Blood may be one of the most interesting people or things in the known galaxy, but did you know? Blood can be found in all four corners of the earth: the north corner, the south corner, the east corner. And West. But although Blood holds many very remarkable properties, scientists don't know anything about it, and so at the end of the day, when all is said and done, they're always left asking...who, or what, is Blood?
